BUILDING FOR THE BIG MILL FINISHED

Agua Prieta Plant to Be the Most Modern in North Mexico.

Douglas, Ariz., May 23.—The flaring mill of the American Milling company, located in the rear of the Sonora Mercantile company's store in Agua Prieta, will be ready to start grinding wheat within the next two months. The substantial building which will house the plant is practically completed, while the machinery is expected to arrive from the east about June 15. When completed the plant will be the most modern in all particulars to be found in the entire state of Sonora.

The building which will house the mill is three stories and a basement in height. Its dimensions are 52 by 52 feet.

From the wheat bins the wheat will be run into the basement of the mill and hoisted from there by a modern elevator system to the milling machinery. The daily capacity, when grinding at full capacity, will be 75 barrels of flour.

The company will draw much of its wheat supply from the farmers in the vicinity of Colonia Morelos, while a large acreage at Fronteras will also be drawn upon. When impossible to obtain Mexican grown wheat the grain will be imported from the United States.

Within 90 days the machinery for the McNeal Cooperative Canning company will have been delivered and installed in a temporary building. The equipment will have a daily capacity of 10,000 cans of vegetables or fruit and will amply take care of the product from the several hundred acres that will supply the first run.

The farmers of the McNeal section have begun to prepare for the initial run of the factory by planting a large acreage, the exact amount not stated, in tomatoes. Plants were set out by nearly all of the farmers last week. Unless a very backward year is experienced the crop will be ready for handling in about three months.

While the company has ample funds remaining from its capitalization of $35,000 to erect a permanent building, the proposed site is not yet patented. For the present a temporary frame structure will be constructed, to be replaced later, when absolute title has been received, by a brick building.

Machinery for the broom factory which will be operated upon the same cooperative plan by the broom-makers growers, will be ordered in a few days. This industry will also be housed in a temporary building until titles have been received.
